SATURDAY MORNING NOVEMBER 19 1870

Palatial Stables and National Politics

The fashionable equipages which throng Fifth Avenue during the afternoon parade will be somewhat curtailed this fall in consequence of a fashionable rivalry that has arisen between William M Tweed and Jim Fisk

William M Tweed of New York has bought a palatial residence at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty third street for which he has paid $ 00 000 and he will add the adjoining vacant garden at a cost of $1 0 0 thus rearing a place magnificent fountains etc Has use for a door yards $,00 and all the rooms are decorated in the most costly style At the back of the house is a handsome brick stable The floors and walls are of polished oak The bulk of Mr Tweed's carriages and horses will of course be kept at this magnificent stable in Forty fifth street which has the aspect of a palatial residence and cost $48 000 without the lot which is worth $25 000 more It is three stories high and has two wide double doors of massive black walnut handsomely carved and fitted with immense panes of figured ground glass costing altogether $1 000 The hall inside is hung with buffalo robes costing from $200 to $,00 and with harness ranging in price from $300 to $1 500 The black walnut cases containing the latter cost $15 00 The handsomest of the carriages is a Clarence costing near $3 300, a couple worth $2 000 and a pony wagon for which $2 000 was paid The boat span of horses are greys, and cost $3 000 Both the stable and the carriage rooms are hung with handsome pictures, and rich plate glass mirrors are frequently to be seen In the second story is a series of richly furnished offices and rooms and in the third story are bed rooms for the grooms as handsomely furnished as the apartments at the Fifth Avenue Hotel

When it is said that the alliance of matters of National interest from its connection with politics, the statement may rather puzzle some and require explanation Here is the explanation as furnished by a leading journal of the city of New York

Nine years ago a man then known only as a chairmaker of poor repute, a typical fireman, and a ward politician of small celebrity, was a candidate on the Tammany ticket for Sheriff He entered into the canvass with great vigor and staked on it every dollar he possessed His opponent was elected, and he was ruined A beggar in purse, with the onus of political defeat upon him, there was no man in New York who seemed to have a less promising future

But he was bold, adroit and unscrupulous He never again sought an office with large lawful emoluments, but was content to serve his city in places of small profit and pretension He remained a Supervisor, and the name became a synonym for thief He was elected a State Senator, and his appearance in the Capitol was the beginning of a new era in the politics of the State the Legislature of New York being thenceforward an article of merchandise He was appointed to a subordinate place therein and instantly the Street Department was flooded with corruption In proportion as he grew powerful, our taxes increased and our elections became debauched He systematized rascality and became an anomaly in being a power above the law Enthroned upon the violated ballot box, which he made to yield majorities to suit his needs, he reigns the absolute and irresponsible master of a great city

His power is not more vast than he has been sordid and selfish in his use of it With no honest income beyond a meagre subsistence, he proved his contempt for the people he robbed by a lavish display of his daily increasing wealth His arrogant assumption of supremacy has kept pace with his fortune.

Through the cunning and shameless frauds of 1868, William M Tweed became and is the autocrat of this metropolis By the grace of the re peater the bankrupt of 1861, who meantime has had no means of honestly amassing money, is more than a millionaire, and the pothouse politician, the rude, uncultured fireman has under his heel the worth, wealth, intellect and culture of a great center of civilization

This is the leader of the Tammany Democracy, the man who is associated with Jim Fisk and others of that ilk, to rule and plunder New York Nor are their machinations confined to that city They extend already throughout the State of New York, and even into other States And the great significant leading fact connected with this alliance is that it constitutes the strength of the Democratic party of the United States With it they are able to carry the great State of New York, and thus they have a foothold from which to strive for the political control of the whole country Tweed is now reputed to be worth $15 000,000 But a few years ago as the New York Tribune shows he was a broken down chair maker He has engaged in no legitimate business he has amassed his millions by schemes of plunder as a politician the ring of which he is the head own Governor Hoffman the Judiciary of the State and the Democratic party and they run the whole thing for their mutual enrichment and aggrandizement Except this corrupt combination there is, virtually no Democratic party They govern New York City at an annual cost of $28 for each inhabitant, and use that part of the money which they do not steal for their own profit to buy up the native and foreign scum in elections and so fill up the Democratic majority It is for these reasons that an account of Tweed's 'palatial stables' is a matter of national interest To every reader the connection between the matters stated in the first paragraph quoted in this article, and national politics will now be apparent

To the "Oregon Herald," Greeting

A dispatch from New York, dated 11th inst says "there is a strong and continued movement on the part of stockholders and others to force Fisk and Gould from the control of the Erie railroad It is believed that it can be done in consequence of the Republican majorities in New York and New Jersey Legislatures" London bankers write here that such is the effect of the Erie swindle in England that no negotiations of American railway securities can be made until Fisk and Gould are forced out of the directory of the road So it seems that the alliance of the notorious Jim Fisk with the Democratic party and the existence of this corrupt combination to plunder the people and carry elections are facts that are coming to be well understood everywhere It was only a few days ago that that anti monopoly organ, the Oregon Herald published a portion of one of Jim Fisk's political speeches and chuckled mightily over it The alliance of the Democratic party with the Erie railroad monopolists that is headed by that chief of all plunderers and corruptionists Jim Fisk whom no man of honorable instincts will have any dealings with is highly satisfactory to the Herald

Senator Trumbull recently delivered a speech in Chicago in which he offered a new suggestion that our difficulties with Great Britain might be settled by the transfer of her North American Provinces to the United States Mr Trumbull's suggestions are generally characterized by good practical judgment but in this case he has come short of it Great Britain we may be sure will not settle on that basis It is not her custom to give up her possessions or even to allow other nations to get any new ones if she can prevent it The nation that will not permit Russia to close the Dardanelles will not cede half the continent of North America to the United States

The New York Tribune says that the names of all those (twenty three in number) registered were kept off the register in New York City by the vigilance of the United States Marshal and his deputies The Democratic ticket in the city was defeated thereby to the end

A Fallacy in Industry

In the city of San Francisco which has attracted much attention of late by its Special Delivery system which has been fully described in the papers we have exposed from time to time the mistake, in our opinion, of the policy of a State favoring itself mainly to the production of wheat as an industry, while a market is thousands of miles away Now we refer to it all at once from our text this subject Last year California produced 18 millions of bushels of wheat more than she consumed, and this year the crop will be still larger Where is the market for this vast surplus? Not in the mining districts which are fully supplied with vegetables from the farms in their vicinity Not in San Francisco which has a population of 150 000 souls shown by statistics to be little more than sufficient to supply the demand for flour and other articles of food Not in Oregon which has a population of 90 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Washington Territory which has a population of 25 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Nevada which has a population of 40 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Idaho which has a population of 20 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Montana which has a population of 20 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Utah which has a population of 100 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Arizona which has a population of 10 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in New Mexico which has a population of 100 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Colorado which has a population of 40 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Nebraska which has a population of 100 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Kansas which has a population of 300 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Texas which has a population of 600 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Indian Territory which has a population of 100 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Arkansas which has a population of 400 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Missouri which has a population of 1 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Iowa which has a population of 1 200 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Illinois which has a population of 2 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Wisconsin which has a population of 1 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Minnesota which has a population of 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Michigan which has a population of 1 200 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Indiana which has a population of 2 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Ohio which has a population of 3 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Kentucky which has a population of 1 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Tennessee which has a population of 1 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Mississippi which has a population of 800 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Alabama which has a population of 1 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Georgia which has a population of 1 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Florida which has a population of 200 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in South Carolina which has a population of 800 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in North Carolina which has a population of 1 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Virginia which has a population of 1 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in West Virginia which has a population of 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Pennsylvania which has a population of 3 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in New York which has a population of 4 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Vermont which has a population of 300 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in New Hampshire which has a population of 300 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Maine which has a population of 600 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Massachusetts which has a population of 1 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Rhode Island which has a population of 200 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Connecticut which has a population of 500 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in New Jersey which has a population of 1 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Delaware which has a population of 100 000 souls and which which has a population of 100 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption Not in Europe which has a population of 300 000 000 souls and which produces more than enough for its own consumption

Where then is the market for the surplus wheat crop of California? Echo answers where?

Really this thing begins to be edifying Here come the Oregon City Enterprise with notes of exultation over Democratic victories in the late elections! What all this may be about we don't know, unless the Democratic organs are so thankful that their party was not entirely annihilated It has managed to elect a few candidates here and there, and this seems so very surprising to such organs as the Enterprise that they at once break forth in notes of jubilation and thanksgiving They talk volubly about gains but they don't explain what gains they have made which can compensate for the loss of the New York Legislature for the loss of everything in New Jersey, and for the complete overthrow in Louisiana, where Seymour had 40 000 majority But these may be untimely suggestions, inasmuch as our friends are now in the middle of a season of rejoicing

THE TERRITORIES

Another large deposit of coal has been found on Cedar river, a few miles from Seattle

A Pennsylvania miner wants to sell to the Central Pacific Railroad Company a bed of coal six feet square, situated within eighty miles of Ogden

At Deer Lodge City Montana, a race is made up for a single day of sixty miles for a purse of $200 The horses are Lizard and Billy Boy It is believed that the distances will be made in four and a half hours This is something new in horse racing

Our old friend Sam Kelly, says the Eko Chronicle of the 6th, returned day before yesterday from Colorado, where he has purchased one hundred thousand acres of land at a place called St Louis valley about a hundred miles south of Denver City This tract was granted to a Mexican by the name of Baca, in exchange for lands owned by him in New Mexico, and taken for Government purposes.

A correspondent of the St Louis Republican says of the town of Greeley in Colorado, that it has 235 voters, nearly half of them professional men, 40 college graduates, and 15 ex members of the Legislature They already have about 20 prospective Governors and 30 members of the Legislature when Colorado attains to the dignity of a State In time no doubt the town will be able to supply the entire West with officials

A Montana paper of a late date has this The skeleton of a man was found on an island in the Missoula river, about thirty miles below the mouth of Cedar, supposed to be that of the Chinaman who was drowned last spring while crossing the river at Booth's ferry Two revolvers and a little book with China characters were all to identify the body when found The queue could not be found, hence his countrymen refuse to touch the mortal remains of the heathen for trans shipment to hallowed soil

On New 1st the first articles of incorporation for a railroad ever filed in Montana were put on record at the Recorder's office in Helena The name is, 'The Helena, Big Horn and Cheyenne Railroad and Telegraph Company" The route is from Cheyenne to Helena along the eastern base of the Big Horn and Wind River Mountains following close along the old Bozeman route from the North Platte to the Gallatin South of Cheyenne the Denver Pranch and Kansas Pacific Railroad will connect, forming a continuous line to St Louis

The Alaska Times now published at Seattle W T, has this item The only troops there are in Alaska to day are the two companies which are stationed at Sitka Within a range of about two hundred miles around Sitka there are about 20 000 or 30 000 Indians, and some of the most dangerous ones there are on this coast If the Government wish to save themselves from having an Indian war on their hands the Commanding General of the Department of the Pacific should lose no time in having a gunboat sent up to Alaska, for the Indians there have more dread of one gunboat than ten companies of soldiers

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS ITEMS

On the 11th inst one of the spans of the railroad bridge that is being built across the Missouri river at St Charles Missouri, fell killing six men and wounding nine others

A Chicago dispatch of the 11th states that Gen Farnsworth (Rep) of the Second Illinois Congressional District, who had been reported as defeated, telegraphs that he is elected by 800 majority

A Times Washington special of the 10th, says there is proper authority for the statement that all rumors from Washington alleging that Judge Chase intends to resign his office as Chief Justice are untrue A letter from him to day says his health continues to improve

A Tours dispatch of the 11th has this The Count de Chambord (Charles Louis) has permitted Baron Charette to offer the Count's commanding the Papal Zouaves and other Bourbon nobles to fight against Germany under the flag of the French Republic All the staff officers of the Papal army who accompanied the returning Zouaves from Rome have joined the forces under Colonel Charette

Following is the French order announcing their recent victory Head quarters Nov 10th "The action of yesterday was a glorious one for our army Every position of the enemy was vigorously carried and the enemy itself is now retreating I have informed and am instructed to return you their thanks for your victory Amid the disasters in which France is plunged her eyes are upon you, and she counts upon your courage Let us all make every effort in order that the hope may not be mistaken The order is signed by the General commanding

It has been stated that Commissioner Wilson of the General Land Office will resign in consequence of structures put up in him by the President in his Long Branch letter to Secretary Cox Friends of Mr Wilson assert however, that he will not tender his resignation but will await removal from office of the Government does not require his services any longer Mr Wilson has just completed his annual report which is a most voluminous and expensive review of the land system of the United States, and among other interesting views, contains a chapter on the benefits of the emigration from Europe and the accession of wealth added to the nation thereby

The Oregon City paper says A report reaches us that the small pox has got among the Molalla Indians located on the Molalla river about eleven miles from this place The Indians are all around town and associate with the citizens and are liable to spread the disease among the whites

The Statesman has these Dr R Hardison, M Curtis and Dr Kay have been making careful examinations of pus and blood from the worst cases of small pox in this town and have not succeeded so far in detecting the first small pox germ or bacillus but rely upon this to help out their theory People generally are coming to the conclusion that it is the small pox and nothing else

CALIFORNIA ITEMS

The Democrats of Sacramento are very progressive They have already celebrated the victories won in the November elections while others have been unable as yet to discover anything worth rejoicing over

There are at the several depots of the California Pacific Railway no less than 6 000 tons of wheat stored in their sheds 15 000 of which it is expected will be brought to Vallejo for shipment leaving 5 000 tons for small till next year's crop is secured

Three hundred graders and track layers are at present employed on the line of the California and Oregon Railroad, and the track is laid a half a mile per day Early next week the iron will reach Deer creek twenty miles from Chico and eight from Tehama, which point will be reached at the end of this month

Work has been commenced on the foundry extension at Mare Island, the foundations of which were laid six years ago This building when completed, will be used for a boiler shop and blacksmith shop, and the other wing now used for the boiler shop will be the foundry The work will be done by the Bureau of Yards and Docks

Sacramento seems to be peculiarly unfortunate in her manufacturing enterprises Her woolen mills proved a failure and we now see by the local papers that the Sacramento Valley Beet Root Sugar Company has suspended operations and offers its stock of beets for sale to dairymen and farmers for food Incompetency in the management is given as the reason for both failures

They have made a pretense of reducing port charges at San Francisco with what result the following from the Commercial Herald will explain Our State Board of Harbor Commissioners have made a pretty muddle of the harbor dues question Their action reminds us of that sage Hibernian who finding his blanket too short cut a piece off the bottom and sewed it to the top They have lightened the dockage charges on vessels but crowded them upon the draymen horses cattle and several articles of merchandise They have relieved Peter to pay Paul or taken from one pocket to fill the other So in the fairness of wages and disposition to lighten the burdens of commerce are creditable to the Commissioners In no sense has the object really desired by the community been accomplished and the matter remains pretty much in the same condition as before

FOREIGN GOSSIP

The German papers are full of paragraphs respecting the French prisoners It appears that at Spandeau near Berlin the concourse of prisoners was so great that a ditch and wall had been constructed to prevent their approach —especially as many of the ladies brought unripe fruit to the captives thereby causing illness

The secret papers found in the Tuileries tell of immense sums of money paid out to stipendiaries A vast file of receipts have been discovered, but these reveal nothing but the figures of the sums received with the signature always the same of an old secret official named Trousin Domerson But besides this, when any influential person wished the secret with regard to him to be better kept, this same official breathed on the pane of the bureau, and wrote with his finger of the sum to be received which vanished instantly The sums thus given is incalculable

Balloon letters from Paris are droll affairs The writer of one, for instance, says I hear of some one going to try to morrow to get through the lines, so I give him a copy of this letter My last letter went off or rather did not go off in a private balloon The speculator rushed in just as I expected him to be off and said 'Celestine has burst' To my horror I discovered that he was speaking of the balloon He then added 'Ernestine remains to us and to Ernestine I confide my letter I have not seen the speculator since it may be that Ernestine has burst too'

The French country people have a horrible fear of the Germans it seems At the village of Chenay the Prussians found but one man left and as he protested that his house contained nothing to eat or drink a search was ordered On a newly erected partition wall being pulled down frightful shrieks were heard and the proprietor trembling with fear begged the officer for mercy not for himself but for his pommes de terre He had walled up his two pretty daughters together with plentiful stores of wine hams, sausages and preserved fruits The officer bowed and begged pardon and on the hams and young ladies coming out of their cell into day light Like a typhoon disappeared the old man only to return to his daughters The lieutenant with some difficulty rescued the fair creatures and then apologizations of the daughters

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Washington correspondence of a New York journal gives the following gossip growing out of the circumstances attending the resignation of Secretary Cox

The newspapers in all parts of the country are full of statements regarding the causes which led to the withdrawal of Secretary Cox from the Cabinet and these statements are as conflicting and contradictory that the general public must be sorely puzzled to arrive at any opinion on the subject There seems to be no doubt of the fact telegraphed by evening sensationary that the assessment of clerks in the Interior Department for political purposes and obstacles to civil service reform were not the only reasons why Mr Cox took his sudden leave.

The course of the ex Secretary on the Metlarahan land claim, has had more to do with the step than most people imagine Mr Cox's shirts are not so clear as his friends would like to make the public believe and before this war Congress is to the whole street is over he will doubtless find out that he has made a great mistake in permitting attacks from those who therewith will suffered him to go in peace and rest in obscurity

All the facts may not come out for a few days but come they will sooner or later Little divisements and cup castinesses in the famous department have served to heighten the now formed dislikes between the Brantides and Coxites It is alleged that a man of the bitter newspaper articles recently published criticising President Grant's action on the question of assessing clerks were written by Mr Patent Commissioner Fisher who is brother in law to ex Secretary Cox Mrs Secretary Cox after perusing one of those Fisher articles cut it out and enclosed it to Mrs Grant anonymously Unfortunately for Mrs Cox how ever she accidentally put the obnoxious article in an envelope bearing the family monogram of Cox and of course Mrs Grant immediately knew from whence it came Further she recognized the calligraphy of Madame Cox from whom she had received letters therefore when Mrs Grant glanced over the article she naturally felt indignant and put it into a Grant envelope with the simple but cutting words Returned to Mrs Cox with the compliments of Mrs Grant" Since then the two ladies I am informed have not spoken

THE PRINCE OF INDIAN POLICY Visit to Washington and Views of the New York Tribune on this

Mr Wheeler the Secretary of the American Board of Missions recently had an interview to day with President Grant about Indian matters Mr Wheeler left the President that Secretary Cox had stated to him not long ago that the Indian policy was not his own originating but the peculiar creation of the President himself This statement was brought out by Mr Wheeler's asking whether his retirement would cause any change in the Indian policy Mr Cox he says replied very sweetly that it would in so far as he (Cox) was identified with it but as the President intended to carry out the policy he (Cox) had the satisfaction of feeling that his retirement would cause no change

The Tribune in commenting upon the above says It is well known that Secretary Cox has always been opposed to the Indian policy of the President and that he has frequently expressed himself in the strongest terms against it Whether this will be continued after the withdrawal of Mr Cox remains to be seen Certain it is that the Indians have been the victims of the grossest frauds and outrages and although many of the agents and officials appointed by the President have been immediately dismissed from office when their villainies were exposed the wrongs of the Indians have been so enormous that they will not be righted in a day or a year Nothing but the most thorough reform in the whole system of Indian management will suffice to put an end to the barbarous outrages which have been perpetrated upon the Indians by the whites and the Tribune is glad to see that the President is determined to make a change in the present system

The Contractor at the Church Spire —The workmen engaged in the construction of the spire for the Congregational Church began yesterday morning to raise it to its place It was built in two sections the lower being at the ground floor, the intention being to set it by means of tackle The process of hoisting went on well yesterday till the spire had been raised about five feet One of the guy ropes was then slacked off by accident allowing the spire to careen over to one side This threw the entire weight of it on to the tackle at the opposite side when the fastenings gave way and the whole thing came down Several of the joists at the foot were broken into splinters others were driven through the floor into the ground the ornamental cap of the spire was broken off but otherwise there was no very great damage done The expense of getting it up again and repairing will be something and there will necessarily be a considerable delay which is at this critical season of the year the most important feature of the accident

Brattle Burns We were attracted yesterday by the part culiarly gay and festive and rich appearance of the show window of Mr C B Dufour or establishment on Wash ington street He has unquestionably some of the most beautiful fur goods —rich and fine dark Russian sables, dark martens and other dark furs—that we ever saw anywhere These are manufactured into all sorts of pa terns for ladies and children—cloaks victoria collars muffs robes etc etc and reflect much credit on Mr Dufour who is an old furrier, began business in this city two or three years since on a very limited capital but by dealing in only the very best qualities of furs, and manufacturing in the highest style of the trade, he has built up his establishment till now it is a real treat to look through his assortments We observe that the ladies have discovered all these things and that Mr Dufour store is frequently thronged with them—curious to see if not to purchase

NAPOLEON INTERVIEWED

He Thinks his Mild Policy With the French Nation the Cause of the War—He Contradicts the Accusations Made Against him of Appropriating Public Funds—etc

[By Telegraph.]

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Herald's special correspondent gives an account of an interview with Napoleon at Wilhelmshohe, on the 5th. The Emperor says that when the Press was freed entirely from him, it was seized by demagogues and unscrupulous politicians, who openly preached distrust to the laws and were but too successful in perverting the minds of the people on the subject of the

RECOGNITION OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC.

By the United States, the Emperor said, "If unpopular Americans would naturally sympathize with Republican institutions, but all conditions requisite to a true Republican form of government are absolutely wanting in France. Those who have boldly grasped the reigns of government have already shown their inability to establish such a Government; that for which they blamed me most they have been compelled to do themselves, and impose still more obnoxious restraint upon the Press.

THE RESTRAINT UPON THE PRESS,

For instance, was the constant theme of attack on the government; but, whilst I made it moderate, and preceded by a mild system of warning advertisements, they have suppressed a number of journals because they do not chime up with their fantastic ideas of Republican sentiments. Presupposing the vital interest of a majority of the people in the concerns of the country, and willing to put their shoulders to the wheel, does not exist in France. The Republic of America and the Republic of France are

DIFFERENT AS WHITE AND BLACK.

Your country people submit to the law, and a spirit based upon public intelligence and morality controls society. Are not your theaters in New York and Boston allowed to perform such plays as they deem fit?

Correspondent—Certainly they are.

Emperor—Then suppose they should treat the public to performances of impure and offensive pieces, what would the consequence be? The press would denounce them, nobody would go to see them, and they would be

CONDEMNED BY THE VERDICT OF THE PUBLIC.

But in France, the greater the departure from morality the greater will be the crowd dancing to delight in it. It is no easy work to curb such an extravagant spirit in a country so often unhappily shaken by revolution; it requires the utmost energy to build up anything.

Cor.—Will your Majesty please enlighten the American people as to the immediate cause of the catastrophe which upset your Government?

Emp.—I can only liken it to an earthquake, air, produced by the combined action and influence of elements whose existence we are aware of without being able to trace their sudden operations. My Government has been almost

TOO WILLING TO LISTEN TO THE CLAMORS

Of those who sometimes truly imagined they knew best how to promote the welfare of the country. I thus consented to the removal of the last existing check to the right of free assemblage, and no sooner had I done so than the privilege was abused to an unlimited extent; public meetings no longer discussed political or social questions in a sober, dignified manner, but became tumultuous in the highest degree. During a whole year, assassination, poisoning, rebellion and the most abominable passions were openly preached to the masses, and urged upon them as the best and only means of saving the country.

Cor.—Such a condition of affairs does not augur stability to a Republican form of Government. The views of your Majesty, who is such an able judge, will deeply interest the American people.

Emp.—I know the Americans to be a frank-hearted and generous nation, and I cannot believe they approve the

SLANDEROUS ACCUSATIONS NOW PREFERRED AGAINST ME.

Have you read the vile statement published in the Independance Belge and other journals, to the effect that I had appropriated the public funds, and conjured up war to conceal such illegal transactions. I wish to state emphatically that the commission of such a branch of trust of my Government in France even if desired, is an utter impossibility. Not a single franc is expended without severe checks on the part of the administration. This is well known to every intelligent man in France. I could hardly attempt to contradict all base, idle calumnies, though they have been believed by a few. In order to show that by far the largest part of my own civil list has been expended by me for the benefit of the public institutions of the country, you may have seen the statement published by my order, signed by Monsieur Thaliu, my Treasurer, to contradict of a certain Monsieur Pal. I have some property in Italy which was left to me by my father. My wife has a private dowry and her jewelry. With these exceptions we have nothing.

Cor.—Your Majesty, having heard the topic, will you please say how it is about the story that you have 23,000,000 francs worth of property on Broadway?

Emp.—I have no property of any kind or description there. The story is unfounded, and as untruthful and unfounded as are all the rest.

Cor.—The accusations with which the press are teeming are not confined to this point. Treason is charged, and strange to say, French soldiers, prisoners in Germany, utter the same word. Their answer to the question acked them is: "Nous sommes trahies."

Emp.—Poor men! It is their mistaken pride and ambition. They are naturally loth to acknowledge, or even to believe that they have been conquered.

Cor.—But your Majesty, yourself, is reported to have said on one occasion of a reverse on that field: "Je suis trahi."

Emp.—I didn't say that; it is an invention like so many others. What I may have said, and what was probably said by many members of the Government was, that probably

WE HAD DECEIVED OURSELVES AS TO THE STRENGTH OF OUR ARMY.

As well as to that of the Prussians. As for myself, basing my opinion upon general conviction, I have oftenoautioned my Ministry as to the estimates. I well recollect how often Marshal Niel pointed to the drawers of his desk and told me, with a confident mein, that the army was complete and ready for every operation. It was not less the case with Lebeuf. It was probably not a fault of the heart but of the head. They refused to listen when I told them we could not compete with Prussia's military establishment, that our effective strength, as compared with theirs, was insufficient. This was the deception, the fault of which must be shared more or less by all of us, and which led to most disastrous results. We were to have ready at a moment's notice, 200,000 reserves when needed. Not more than half of them were at hand, and those only after a delay of weeks. Thus

THE PRUSSIANS GOT THE START OF US.

Notwithstanding the bravery of our troops, with double our number they obliged us to yield them every victory. What is the feeling in Berlin?

Cor.—Peace is the general desire—peace by all means.

Emp.—France, too, needs rest; but the conditions imposed by Count Bismarck are too exacting altogether. What Government could accept them and at the same time maintain a foothold. France cannot endure so deep a humiliation.

Cor.—As to that sentiment, the Berlin people have been so worked on by the official press that it may be regarded as an impossibility for even Bismarck to lower the demand for territorial annexation on the largest scale.

Emp.—(With deep emotion)—France cannot bear this.

Cor.—Considering that your Majesty may be recalled to the throne and France yet become prosperous, though she may have lost a portion of her territory, why should your Majesty commit yourself on a question of this character?

Emp.—(Musingly)—You may be right; but he re the Emperor, who heretofore had been all cheerfulness, sighed for the first time)

THE "REDS."

Cor.—Will your Majesty have the goodness to explain why the Provisional Government so obstinately refuses to hold elections for representatives?

Emp.—In my opinion it is because they are afraid of the Reds.

Cor.—Should they not just as much apprehend that a large number of Bonapartists would be returned?

Emp.—I do not think so. The disordant elements of social communism and anarchy have spread terror and got the upper hand, and it is very difficult to contend with such Utopian and seductive delusions.

Cor.—I am pleased to see an absence of your Majesty's bodily health and strength; but does your Majesty feel mentally strong enough to resume the reins of government, should affairs take a favorable turn and you be recalled?

Emp.—When I consider the uncertainty looking in the road to such an aim, when I consider the vast impediments to be overcome, I really feel

LITTLE AMBITION.

I would rather be independent, would rather even be as I am now, a prisoner, and never step again on French soil.

"But you, with your Majesty's interest as a father, are desirous of bequeathing undynasty to your son."

Emp.—Again agitated—No, no; I never let him recall such a thought. I've him too much to endure for him the chances of dread uncertainty. It these cannot be avoided he would be far happier in private life without the overwhelming responsibility attaching to such a station in a country which can never forget a humiliation. Priests ought not to be too severe. She ought to recollect that I allowed her to fight the Austrian war, but I could have prevented it. The history of the situation previous to 1866 and since, also that of the occurrence before and after Sedan, an exposition of which I have ordered to be written and printed will fully explain the relative merits of the two Powers.

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First. Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands for which a preemption claim, homestead claim or land actually sold prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands in the terminous with the first division of United States bonds from East Portland to Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1871.

Second—Persons who have valid preemption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price (if $1 25 per acre to citizens) and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by the relinquishment or abandonment of their claim to the U. S. Land Office; for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has been, and may be given a preference to Congress over all others, and no person can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees and expenses of witnesses to go to the land office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

BANKRUPT NOTICES.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR the District of Oregon, ss.—In the matter of Marks Wormser, in bankruptcy. On petition of bankrupt, a petition was filed on the 20th day of October A. D. 1870, in said Court. This is to give notice that on the twenty-sixth day of October, A. D. 1870, a warrant in Bankruptcy was issued against the estate of Marks Wormser, of Portland, in the county of Multnomah and State of Oregon, who has been adjudged a bankrupt on his own petition, that the payment of any debts and the delivery of any property belonging to such bankrupt, to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him are forbidden by law; that a meeting of the creditors of said bankrupt, to prove their debts and to choose one or more assignees of his estate will be held at a Court of Bankruptcy to be holden at Portland, in said District, before W. Lair Hill, Register, on the 8th day of December A. D. 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M.

THOMAS O. YOUNG,
U. S. Marshal as Messenger.
By JOHN DEVLIN, Deputy.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS. In the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon. In the matter of J. J. Walton and C. W. Walton, Bankrupts. Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed in said Court by J. J. & C. W. Walton, of Eugene City, in the County of Lane in said District, adjudged bankrupts under the Act of Congress of March 2, 1867, for a discharge and certificate thereof. That the said petitioners will appear before the said Court, at the office of W. Lair Hill, Esq., in the City of Portland, Oregon, on the 6th day of December A. D. 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M., when and where creditors who have proved their claims may appear and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioners should not be granted.

Witness the Hon. RALPH WILDER, Judge of said Court, and the seal thereof, at Portland, in said District, this 1st day of November A. D. 1870.

[SEAL] Clerk U. S. District Court, Oregon.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES for the District of Oregon. Notice. Pursuant to a third and final meeting of creditors of A. Kattenhorn, Bankrupt in the firm of W. Lair Hill & Co., to be held at the office of W. Lair
